STEEL BILL IS VETOED

President Says Tariff Measure Provided For "Revenue Only"

Washington, Aug. 14.—President Taft today vetoed the steel bill. In a message to congress the president said he was disappointed in the measure because it provided for revenue only and took no account of protection for American industries. He commended the ways and means committee for refusing public hearings on the bill. His veto was expected.

Mr. Taft gave another reason for his veto the fact that the bill not only affected the iron and steel industry, but fifty-nine allied industries, which, he said, were worth separate classification. Mr. Taft wrote he was not prepared to say there were no items in the steel schedule which ought not to be reduced, but he pointed out that its ad valorem rate was a fifteen per cent reduction of the duties of the Wilson law.

"A bill for the complete revision of this schedule was presented to me a year ago in an extraordinary session of this congress," wrote the president. "Many increases and decreases of rates are now made from those named in the former message. The changes are not explained and indicate the hasty method pursued in the preparation of both. It is not fair to ask either on the basis of protection or revenue, which was right."

Affects Many Families.
"On the whole, therefore, I am not willing to approve of legislation of this kind, which vitally affects not only millions of workmen and the families dependent on them, but hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of stocks of goods in the hands of stockholders and distributors generally without first providing for a careful and disinterested inquiry into the conditions of the whole industry. From the outset of my administration I have urged a revision of the tariff based on a non-partisan study of the facts. I have provided the means for securing such information in the appointment of a tariff board. Its thorough work, already completed on several schedules, has justified my confidence in this method."

The president has said he also would veto the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, carrying riders to abolish the commerce court and limit tenure of office to civil service employees to seven years. By doing so the president would hold up his own salary, that of every member of congress and every employee of the United States courts. Speculation of the possibilities of passing the bill over his veto are being discussed and leaders are canvassing the house and senate.

As soon as the house committee reports an attempt will be made to pass the bill over the veto. Speaker Clark finally ruled that the question of considering immediately, the president's veto, was one of the highest constitutional privileges and therefore displaced all other business before the house.

Minority Leader Mann appealed from the decision of the chair, but lost by an overwhelming vote. Majority Leader Underwood provided one hour's debate, to be equally divided, at the expiration of which a vote of passing the bill over the president's veto was to be taken.

Within three hours after President Taft had sent the steel tariff bill back to congress with his message of disapproval, the house today passed it over his veto. The vote was 173 to pass it, 83 against it and one present and not voting. It is not expected to repass the senate.

CLUB STILL SHORT OF FUNDS

Despite Tag Day and its generous contributions to the local baseball treasury, tomorrow's pay-day will be about $1,500 short, according to the officials of the association, and the amount must be made up in one way or another before the players can receive their salaries.

"Baseball is a luxury in any town," said I. L. Reynolds today as he discussed the situation with Angus Kennedy, "and the people of Ogden must not be misled into thinking that because they came through and bought a ticket Saturday for 50 cents or 75 cents that the amount will round out the season's expenses. Some of our near-boomers who referred to their purchase of a ticket as being 'stung,' probably think that what we raised that day would retire the team on a pension for the rest of their natural lives. The price should have been a dollar instead of 75 cents and 50 cents."

"What we've got to do is to come through with the money at all these games and not let this association drain its treasury to pay salaries. There ought to be a thousand or more persons at every game for the balance of the season. All the other cities in the league have made good on the enterprise and Ogden can't afford to do otherwise."

The remedy lies in patronizing the games and purchasing treasury stock in the baseball association.

STEAMER IN NO DANGER

Wrecked Corsican on Way to Liverpool For Repairs

Montreal, Aug. 14.—The Allan line officials say the steamer Corsican, which on Monday collided with an iceberg, is now on her way to Liverpool, and that there are no grounds for believing she was more seriously injured than at first reported.

General Passenger Agent George Hanna said he had received word that the Corsican moved on this morning. She was at noon today, when the inquiries were made, out of touch with the wireless stations on the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Fog was undoubtedly the cause of her delay, it was said, after the ship struck an iceberg. The Gulf signal station reports, which last night gave the position of the Corsican as 120 miles east of Belle Isle, in company with the Lake Champlain—the boats reporting that they were in "no danger"—this morning did not mention either steamer, though dense fog at nearly all gulf points is announced.

The explanation given here for the presence of the Lake Champlain near the Corsican is that after making her way to the Allan liner, when she first heard that the accident had occurred, she was unable to continue on her trip because of the fog.

This afternoon the Allan line officers received the following message from Captain Cook of the Corsican: "The weather has cleared. Corsican proceeding at about half speed. Absolutely no cause for alarm; hoist in step five feet above the water line."

The dimensions of the hole in the Corsican will be wired to Liverpool, so that plates can be prepared and fitted when she arrives.

PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN

Progressive Leaders Are Completing Itinerary For Col. Roosevelt

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Plans for opening the Progressive party's campaign are to be completed today by Colonel Roosevelt, Senator Dixon, his campaign manager, George W. Perkins of New York and Medill McCormick of Chicago.

One of the difficult problems has been found in the arrangement of a satisfactory itinerary for Colonel Roosevelt. He has received several thousand invitations to make campaign speeches and expects to deliver about sixty, distributed in such a way that he will speak in every state with three or four exceptions. Senator Dixon has outlined a tentative itinerary, which he will submit today to Colonel Roosevelt.

DECISION IN LAND CASE

Hundreds of Homesteaders Will Be Affected By New Ruling

Bozeman, Mont., Aug. 14.—Word has been received here that the decision of the local land office in the case of Mrs. E. L. Houston against B. W. Spaulding, a desert land entryman, which, it is said, will affect hundreds of homesteaders throughout the west, has been confirmed by department officials at Washington.

Mrs. Houston's contention that the land in question was not desert land, as adjoining land of similar character was yielding profitable crops without irrigation, was sustained. The decision recognizes the modern methods of dry farming.

COMPLAINTS BY BUSINESS HOUSES

Complaints are being made of business men that the city has been slow in compelling the Moran forces to open the three principal street intersections of the city to travel.

Weeks have passed since work was started and the intersections still are closed to the streets east of Washington. "The slow process being made is annoying," said a big wholesaler today. "We drive up Twenty-fourth and are forced to go blocks out of our way to reach customers. People coming down from the bench in the city reach Washington before they meet with a sign which drives them back to Adams. Why has the city used such poor judgment or tolerated such exasperating delays on the street repairs? The job is a comparatively small one and should have been completed in a few days."

BIG BATTLE IS PENDING

'Red' Army Will Attempt to Take San Francisco Today

Salinas, Cal., Aug. 14.—The actual battle for the possession of San Francisco began today. From the Prudhoe regular troops, constituting the "blue" army of defense, in command of Colonel Cornelius Gardner, marched southward to encounter the invading "red" army of militiamen under General Robert Wankowski.

The "reds" began their northward advance from Salinas at daybreak, considerably hampered by barbed wire entanglements which the Twelfth Infantry and Utah militia, constituting a "blue" outpost, in command of Colonel Bowen, U. S. A., had sown in the bed of the Salinas river.

In falling back on the main "blue" command, the outlying defensive outposts have worried the invaders, dynamiting bridges, carrying off captives in brisk raids and generally harassing the advance of the larger force.

"Red" detachments were working before dawn today, clearing away the barbed wire, and "red" cavalry are hovering at sunrise over the "blue" column near Salinas.

POLITICS IN THE ARMY

Pay Master Ray Worked For Taft—Inquiry Is Begun

Washington, Aug. 15.—Secretary Stimson and the house committee investigating the case of Major Beecher B. Ray, the army paymaster, accused of having done political work for President Taft, clashed today over the right of the committee to call on Mr. Stimson to produce papers in the case. Representative Baileys of Ohio announced he would look for some precedent to accuse the secretary of contempt of congress.

Secretary Stimson denied the right of congress to try to get through him letters and papers of a personal nature.

He resisted the effort of the members to pin him down to admission that he or some one in his department had "held back" from congress the papers in the Ray case.

Representative Martin said the important thing to learn was whether the conduct of the war department was guided by a "hint" from some body outside. Mr. Stimson said nothing had been found during his administration which warranted "disciplinary action" in the case.

Mr. Stimson said he considered the conduct of General J. Franklin Bell and Brigadier General Clarence Edwards in handling the papers in the case, "highly irregular," as individuals though not as officials. Some of the papers are said to be with General Bell in Manila.

The committee thinks it has not been given all of the documentary evidence concerning Major Ray's record and the investigation has simmered down to a congressional quest for the papers.

CLOSING OF SALOONS OF CITY

The question of closing the saloons of Ogden at the same hour they are closed in Salt Lake, was again brought to the attention of the city commissioners this morning when a committee of representative citizens and business men, consisting of A. P. Bigelow, Dr. H. M. Rowe, C. E. Harris, Ralph Bristol and W. H. Harris appeared before the board for the purpose of ascertaining the attitude of the board in case the people should vote for a change in the closing hours.

The committee stated to the board that there is no question but that discrimination is damaging to the better business interests of Ogden and that a change should be made. They said that, at a previous meeting of business men of the city and the board, members of the board had said that they should like to hear from the majority of the people on the question and that they would be guided largely by popular sentiment. Today the business men's committee wanted to know whether the commissioners would do the bidding of the people in the matter if the voice of the people could be obtained.

The commissioners stated that it would likely be possible to call an election whereby the people could voice their sentiments and that if such a step were taken, the cost of the election would be borne by the business interests, but that action would not be undertaken unless it were known that the commissioners would be guided by the result of the election.

Many arguments were presented why the time of closing should be changed, not as a question of the consumption of liquor in the city nor as a matter acting in the interests of the saloons of the city, but as a question of business and fair dealing between two cities so near each other as Salt Lake and Ogden. It was said that the mere fact that Ogden closes the liquor houses at an early hour and Salt Lake's places are running, causes an impression to go out that Ogden is a dull city and travelers almost invariably pass Ogden by to get to the so-called livelier place, thereby causing Ogden to lose a great deal of business in all lines that she is entitled to have.

The commissioners did not commit themselves, stating that there could be no legal election of the kind and that, inasmuch as there is no provision for the initiative and referendum, they could be bound only as a moral obligation. No action was taken by the board and none will be taken hereafter except that if the election is held and the commissioners feel that the voice of the people untrammelled and without bias or prejudice, has been given, they will then take the matter under consideration.

Mayor Fell states that he is convinced that the hour of closing saloons in Ogden should be changed to 12 o'clock, because Salt Lake closes at that time, and he is ready to vote for the change.

This afternoon Commissioner Browning stated to a standard representative that he desires to know the will of the people and that, if it were made certain to him that the people want the change, he would not oppose it. Mr. Browning states, however, that the people have been heard twice on the saloon question in the city and that they have declared in favor of the present regulation and he is fearful that an election on the question at this time would not be satisfactory for it could not be known as to whether the people were exercising their free and voluntary vote. He states that he will not be obstinate in the matter and that it makes no difference to him personally whether the change is made or not, but he feels that he must stand by the pledges he made in the city election of last fall. The commissioner suggests that another election be held next fall to ascertain whether the people desire the saloons to be open until 12 o'clock.

Commissioner Nye takes the stand that he is a servant of the people and that, if it could be known positively that they desire a change in the closing hours of the saloon, he would not hesitate to comply with their wishes. He is willing to put his ear to the ground and listen for the voice of the people, but he will have to know that when he hears a sound that it is the master's voice. Without hearing from the electorate, he is convinced that the present closing hours are satisfactory and should not be changed.

The business men state that it is possible that some action toward holding an election to get the voice of the people will be taken. This will be done if assurance is given that the board of commissioners will abide by the result of the election.
